Ladies Prepare Dinner For M. S. Ass'n Family

The dinner served in the Middlesex Sportsman's Association Clubhouse on Tuesday evening for "the family," was pronounced one of the best ever. That was because the "big gang" prepared it. This group of ladies, who so style themselves, was chairmaned for the dinner by Mrs. Roger W. Homer, who not only baked what proved to be delicious hams, but made over seventy apple dumplings, served as dessert, with the most delectable sauce. The other viands were, escalloped oysters, hot rolls, mashed potato, peas, jelly, coffee and angel cake.

The best part of this family party was that its head, Mr. N. J. Hardy, was able to be present, and during the dinner hour he took occasion to thank those present who had shown him and Mrs. Hardy so much attention during his weeks of illness. Three rousing cheers were given "Nap" by the jolly company, gathered about the bountifully spread tables.

The singing during the serving of the dinner is one of the features of these family nights, but it never sounded better than at this time, for in it was a note of happiness for the presence of their beloved president.

Messrs. Wm. Anderton, Paul Frazer, "Brad" Swift and George Rice, the song leaders and quartet of the Association, were much in evidence. The spirit of fellowship was apparent, not only in the dining room, but throughout the clubhouse, where during the remainder of the evening congenial groups participated in the many diversions afforded to club members.

The ladies assisting Mrs. Homer were Mrs. Frank H. Reed, Mrs. William Watson, Mrs. Fred Harvey and Mrs. Bourne. The ladies serving at the tables were Mrs. Bradford Swift, Mrs. Harrison Evans, Mrs. L. E. A. Smith, Mrs. John Woodworth, Mrs. Charles Alden, Mrs. Louis Yeager.

ARLINGTON MEN'S CLUB HOLDS LADIES' NIGHT

The Arlington Men's Club held its annual Ladies' Night in the parlors of the Orthodox Congregational church on Monday evening. An excellent supper was served by an out-of-town caterer. This was followed by a most enjoyable musical program given by the Evans-Carman Duo and Miss Hildegard Berthold, cellist, with Miss Dorothy Carpenter, reader.

The week-end for Arlington Girl Scouts was an important and busy one, for Arlington was selected as the place to hold a conference of the Metropolitan Division of Massachusetts Girl Scouts. The delegates, over four hundred in number, arrived in Arlington on Friday, January 13th, and between the hours of 4 and 5 p.m. were registered at the Senior High School.

Previous to this, however, Arlington Girl Scouts had been doing a great deal of work in order that the guests should be properly taken care of. There was the transportation which was in charge of Miss Ruby Bailey; the housing, that meant securing of hostesses who were willing to receive into their homes Girl Scouts as guests during the conference. This task was in charge of Miss Helen Bennett of Arlington. There were 139 families who extended hospitality to the Scouts, some taking from two to six guests. Thirty girls were housed in Lexington through the courtesy of ladies interested in Girl Scouting. Elizabeth Eames, also of Arlington, was hostess during the conference, and all three of these young scouts were

ELECT MR. GAMMONS PRESIDENT OF PRINCIPALS' ASSOCIATION

Mr. Hermann Gammons, principal of the Arlington Senior High school, was elected president of the High School Principals' Association of Massachusetts at their annual meeting, held Saturday at the City Club. For the past year Mr. Gammons has served this organization, which includes in its membership practically all of the principals in the State, as vice-president.

One of the duties of the vice-president is to act as chairman of the committee on "The New in Education" and on Saturday Mr. Gammons gave the report for that committee. It included four especially interesting developments in education during the past year.

The first of these is the use of personal rating blanks as a supplement to school records and examinations in determining admission to higher institutions of learning. Many colleges and normal schools are sending blanks to the principals in which they ask them to rate personal qualities, such as honesty and cooperation. The principal is urged to supplement the blank by any information he can give and in many cases he is asked to show what the pupil has accomplished in extra-curriculum activities.

The second is the increasing supervision of teaching work by the High school principal. It is only in recent years that it has come to be

BUS QUESTION WILL NOT BE SETTLED IMMEDIATELY

Through a misunderstanding, the Advocate announced last week that the question as to whether or not a bus line is to be operated on Pleasant street would be settled either last Saturday or Monday. Instead, the Selectmen have postponed, making any decision until they can give the matter further consideration, and no definite time has been set for a final vote on the matter.

Miss Dorothy Allen Holds Birthday Party

Miss Dorothy Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert G. Allen, of Lake street, entertained a group of young ladies and gentlemen with a delightful party in honor of her sixteenth birthday, last Saturday evening, Jan. 14. The guests were classmates at High school. It was an especially pretty party, for the guests were in formal dress. Dancing and music constituted the evening's entertainment. Miss Dorothy entertained with pleasing vocal numbers, her mother accompanying at the piano. Supper was served in the dining room, where the table was lovely in the color scheme of pink, carried out with candles, roses and novelty favors. A birthday cake ornamented with sixteen candles was cut by the hostess. The favors hidden within, caused no end of delight, when located, and the superstition related to them was disclosed.

"THE RUNAWAYS" TO BE STAGED IN ARLINGTON

The Middlesex Sportsman's Association has completed arrangements for the presentation of the New York musical comedy success, "The Runaways," at Robbins Memorial Town Hall, on January 30 and 31. The production will be staged by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Philbrick, of Framingham, who have produced "The Runaways" and other elaborate musical extravaganzas in nearly all the principal cities of New England with marked success.

The cast will include nearly 150 local singers, dancers and comedians. There will be scores of lavish and colorful costumes, special scenery and novel electrical effects. The committee in charge, of which Bradford Swift is chairman, is laying elaborate plans with a view to making "The Runaways" the outstanding event in local theatrical presentation.

Supper was served to a large representation of the teaching department by a corps of workers with Mrs. Fred Douglas in charge. Prior to the supper, an informal reception was held, when an opportunity to greet Rev. and Mrs. Feagan was eag

Members of the Arlington Woman's Club were entertained at the meeting of the club on Thursday afternoon, with what proved to be an afternoon, not only of pleasure, but of profit. The program was in charge of Mrs. Franklin P. Hawkes, chairman of the legislative committee of the club, who secured the services of Mary Livermore Barrows, of Melrose, to put on a portrayal of a session of the U. S. Senate.

Previous to this, Mrs. Hawkes gave a brief, but graceful introduction of the aim of the afternoon, and then presented Mrs. Barrows, who explained the scenes that were to be enacted on the floor of the Town Hall, carrying out, as far as it were possible, a day with our Senators in session.

Forty-five club members so disguised themselves in men's attire, and with false mustaches and even goatees and wigs, that few were recognized. The "Senators" were cleverly impersonated, different mannerisms being accentuated, that gave color and zest to the session, which was an eye-opener to some who have never visited our U. S. Senate and heard its business transacted.

Bills, ranging from the amending of the Volstead Act, to increasing the size of the Botanical garden, or building a new Boston Post-office, were introduced, and tabled. Others were brought to a vote, thus giving a chance to see portrayed all kinds of Senate proceedings.

Some of those who had especially long arguments for and against bills, were Mrs. George Tewksbury, Miss Alice G. Lenk, Miss Lena Lenk, Mrs. Walter Vaughn, Mrs. George Brooks, Mrs. J. Herbert Mead and others, but it was the manner in which each conducted her part that made it a clever presentation. The "pages" certainly were kept on the jump quite

DR. GUTTERIDGE INSTALLS NEW ANESTHETIC MACHINE

Dr. J. H. Gutteridge has just installed in his office at 637 Massachusetts avenue, a new gas and oxygen machine, to produce anesthesia. This machine, which is the latest thing of the kind, causes unconsciousness, but is safer than ether and has fewer evil effects. Indeed, after taking gas and oxygen, the patient is able to leave the dentist's office at once, although Dr. Gutteridge has provided a place where they may rest. He will use this when he is extracting teeth and for oral surgery.

DAUGHTERS OF VETERANS HOLD INSTALLATION

One hundred and forty-five members and friends of Tent 76, Daughters of Veterans, gathered in G. A. R. Hall, last Friday evening, for the installation of officers. The ceremony, which was very pretty, was in charge of Department President Dora McCue and her Guide, Mrs. Bolster.

Guests of honor on the platform included Comrades Clark, Knowles and Averill, Past Department President Wilcox, the Commander of Camp 45, Mrs. Caroline Morse, president of the Middlesex County Woman's Relief Corps, the presidents of Corps 40 and Auxiliary 46, the Rev. R. J. Davis of Camp 45, and the president of American Legion Auxiliary 39.

The officers installed were as follows:—president, Elizabeth Turner; junior vice-president, Mary Smith; chaplain, Hattie Jones; treasurer, Cora Thayer; council number one, Lennie Chapman; two, Annie Holbrook; three, Macie O'Callahan; patriotic instructor, Addie Smith; secretary, Alice Hopkins; press correspondent, Estelle Ramsdell; guide, Mabel Hull; guard Maud Sullivan; assistant guard, Abbie Ramsdell; color bearer one, Helen Thayer; two, Mary O'Callahan; three, Clara Powers; four, Florence Sullivan.

The new president presented gifts to the installing president and her guide. To the installing staff were given powder puffs of various colors by the treasurer, Cora Thayer. Mr. Turner presented a handsome bouquet to his wife and to the Tent a symbolic silver ring, with an appropriate poem. The secretary, Mrs. Hopkins, gave a present to the president, and the incoming president, on behalf of the tent, presented to Mrs. Chapman, the outgoing president, a handsome bridge lamp.

OVER FOUR HUNDRED GIRL SCOUTS IN CONFERENCE

complimented by their superiors and guests for the manner in which they discharged their respective responsibilities.

The conference for the most part was for Girl Scouts only. A reception came Friday evening from 7 until 8 o'clock, after which came the opening of the conference.

Bettina King of Melrose was the general chairman, and welcomed the Scouts, and introduced the guests. The manner in which she discharged her duty would have been a credit to one twice her years. The secretary's report was read by Mrs. Elizabeth Slocumb of Melrose, followed with brief remarks by Mrs. Harold A. Yeames, Commissioner of Arlington; Mrs. Arthur W. Hartt, Commissioner for Massachusetts; Miss Ruth H. Stevens, State director of Massachusetts; Miss Margaret Kimball, director of Western Division; Miss Helen F. Potter, director of Eastern Division; Miss Edith Sinnott, director for Metropolitan Division; Mildred Glasier, delegate from the Western Division, and Betty Johnson, from the Eastern Division. These formal exercises completed the Friday program.

On Saturday at 10 a. m., the Girl Scouts, over four hundred strong, assembled again in the auditorium of the Senior High school. Dora E. Palmer of Quincy was chairman. The singing was led by Dorothy Davis of Lexington, who by her magnetic personality, put this part of the conference over with a "bang," so to speak.

The reports from communities next were in order. "Responsibilities of a Scout," was discussed, in charge of Miss Palmer. Waltham Scouts spoke of "Responsibilities in the Home," Somerville Scouts, "In School," Brookline, "In the Community," and Lexington, "In the Out-of-doors." Patrol system was next considered. "Elsie Eagles of Quincy, chairman." "Court of Honor, Patrols in Council and what is a Patrol Leader?" were the subjects discussed.

The luncheon served from 12 to 1 p. m., was under the supervision of Miss Harriett R. Pennell, in charge of household arts in the Senior High school, who was assisted by Miss Bernice Hayes. They catered to 400, which included State officers, as well as Girl Scouts, and served a delicious repast. Jane MacGregor of Newton, directed the recreation that filled in the time until the re-opening of the conference at 2.30 p. m.

Group conferences occupied the afternoon, the delegates choosing whichever conference they wished to attend, and each held in a different class room, under the guidance of a leader. They were admirably conducted and in a businesslike and earnest way, showing that the Scouts had come with a purpose. Helen Beane of Boston was chairman of the Nature Group; Frances Berger of Hingham, hiking and out-door activities; Ethel Richardson of interesting troop meeting; Lois Allen Wakefield, Community service, handicrafts and raising money; Ella Kurzman, games for troop meetings.

Saturday evening was guest night, held in Robbins Memorial Town Hall. Over 200 people were turned away for lack of even standing room. It was a most thrilling sight to see on the floor of that fine auditorium, girls in khaki, all of whom had won the privilege of wearing that uniform by obeying the Scout Laws and meeting with the Scout requirements.

Arlington Bugle and Drum Corps, Elizabeth Bames, drum major, led the Scouts to their places in the hall. After the opening ceremony came the secretary's report. Elizabeth Slocumb, Jane Loomis of Needham followed with a splendid account of her attendance at the International conference at Geneva. The singing of Scout songs was led by Miss Davis. An impressive pageant followed, describing symbolically the contribution of the Indians, the Pilgrims and other groups to the making of the historical characters and ideals which are embodied in the United States. It was called "The Kindling of the Fire," rewritten from the "Four Winds," dedication ceremony.

Members of troops One and Two of Arlington Girl Scouts were in the Pilgrim, the Pioneer and the Colonial groups of the pageant. They were as follows:—Troop 1—Pauline Bennett, Betty Pierce, Julia Dodd, Burnell Shinn, Barbara Shinn, Bernice Hayes, Ruth DeNoyer, Emily Hughes, Eleanor Hughes, Mildred Bennett, Grace Carbury, Bernadine Brooks, Virginia Brooks. Troop 2—Mildred Anderson, Marion Anderson, June Brackett, Beatrice Vom Bauer, Louise Smith, Virginia Baker, Jeanne Taylor, Eleanor Rowsell, Jean Marsh, May Turner, Marion Crampton, Marjorie Hyde, Priscilla Hardy, Virginia Cox, Martha Barr, Agnes MacIver, Ruth Bennett.

The exercises were brought to a close with the singing of several Scout songs, led by Miss Davis, "taps" being the final number.

On Saturday evening the Arlington Girl Scout Council entertained at supper in the St. John's Parish House 116 girls who had commuted from Cambridge, Winchester and other places. It was chairmaned by Mrs. Edward L. Shinn. The hostesses were Mrs. James A. Bailey, Mrs. Frank A. Woodhead, Mrs. Joseph P. McCann, Mrs. H. Stanley Marsh, Mrs. E. M. Steele, Mrs. George O. Ottley.

The conference closed Sunday afternoon, with a most impressive service in the Senior High School auditorium. First came the exercises, "the Scout's own," in charge of Miss King, who as leader, made it a service long to be remembered. Then followed "the trefoil ceremony." This, like the episode done on Saturday evening, was written by Mrs. Moseley, the Metropolitan Division Commissioner, and was presented by a group of Scouts. A farewell reception to delegates by the Arlington Council closed the conference. During this hour, ice cream and cake were served, under the direction of Mrs. Jackson W. Osborne.

The leaders of the Arlington Girl

Scouts are, Troop one, Julia Dodd (acting); Troop two, Delores Osborne; Troop three, Mrs. Oscar Schnitzer; Troop four, Helen Bennett (acting); Troop five, Mrs. Walter Rannels.

Fifty Years Ago This Week

Wedding Anniversary.—Rev C. H. Spaulding and wife met with a genuine surprise, last Tuesday evening. They were invited to tea with the family of Rev. Mr. Nordell, and about half past seven o'clock were summoned home to find their residence entirely illuminated and filled to overflowing with their parishioners, who had called to congratulate them upon the twentieth anniversary of their wedding. Their dining room table was loaded with valuable presents, suggested by the occasion. Mr. Warren Rawson approached the pastor, and with a few kind words, emptied upon the table a fish of new silver dollars, nearly a hundred in number. There were other presents in cash besides. Mr. Spaulding was thrown completely on his guard as was manifest in the exceeding embarrassment of his response, which was given in choke utterances.

W. C. T. Union.—At the regular meeting of the W. C. T. Union, last Tuesday afternoon, the following officers were chosen for the coming year:—President, Mrs. Edward D. Brooks; Vice-presidents, Mrs. George H. Rugg, Mrs. James Cutter; Secretary, Mrs. Anna W. Freeman; Treasurer, Mrs. W. Trow; Executive Committee—Mrs. John Field, Mrs. R. J. Hardy, Mrs. George C. Whittemore, Mrs. John H. Hartwell, Mrs. H. B. Mitchell, Mrs. A. J. Tillson, Mrs. David P. Green.

Wedding Anniversary.—A festive gathering, long to be remembered by those participating, as one of the pleasantest and most successful of its kind, was that which met at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Hight, Lewis avenue, last Tuesday evening, it being the tenth anniversary of their marriage. Under cover of darkness, about forty ladies and gentlemen bearing bouquets of choice eatables and various vessels and utensils, made of the precious metal from the mines of Cornwall, assembled with all due secrecy at the home of a near neighbor, who was the throw, one of the leading spirits in the scheme. The order to advance was given about half past seven and an overwhelming charge was made upon the "lights," they being literally "taken by surprise and carried by storm." The kitchen was unceremoniously invaded by the Commissary Department of the assaulting forces, which at a later hour contributed largely to the rational enjoyment of the evening. After the interchange of friendly greetings an entertainment, under the direction of Miss Alice Metcalf, was given in an admirable manner.

Twenty-five Years Ago This Week

Rev. S. C. Bushnell and Mr. J. Howell Crosby were guests of Past-Commander A. H. Knowles at the 37th annual reunion of the 24th Massachusetts Regimental Association on Tuesday. It was held at the American House, in Boston and was largely attended. Comdr. Knowles, as president of the Association, presided at the banquet and our informant says he filled the position admirably, introducing fourteen speakers, those already named being on the list.

On Tuesday evening some of the young people of the Heights met at the home of Miss Sadie King and formed a reading club called, "The Hawthorne Literary Club." They will meet the second and fourth Tuesday in the month, the next meeting being next week. The following officers were elected:—Instructor, Rev. George W. McCombe; president, Clarence Michaels; vice-president, Rosa Berglund; secretary, Clara Cann; treasurer, Joseph Burt.

A number of Heights people attended the concert at Bedford on Thursday evening, given in the Town Hall. Miss Edith Mann sang a solo and Miss Josie Learned was in the chorus. The concert was a great success. Much credit is due Mrs. Arthur Woods and Mrs. Loomis, also the rest of the talent. After the concert the talent was entertained at the home of Mr. Webb, where a fine collation was served. Mrs. Mann, Mrs. Learned, Mr. Partridge and the Misses Anderson were also guests at the house.

Miss Florence Hall and Miss Myrtle Walcott will represent the Arlington Club in the Women's Golf Association.

Miss Gordon Walker was one of the participants in the Artists' Festival Tuesday night at Gley Hall, Boston. One of the daily papers said of her: "Mrs. Walker wore a Carmenita costume and was the personification of grace and beauty. She was accompanied by a twentieth century group."

Mr. Albert H. Goodwin and his little nephew, Master Murray Walcott, observed their birthdays together on Sunday, when Mr. Goodwin was a guest at dinner in honor of the joint festival of his niece, Mrs. A. M. Walcott, at her charming home, 46 Mountfort street, Boston.

—There was a large congregation out Sunday morning at Calvary Methodist church to greet the exchange minister, Rev. Mr. Lyons, of the Park Avenue Congregational church.

SCHOOL NOTES

SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL

The Assembly on Friday was given by members of Miss Tabor's class. Those who took part were Frances Shea, Bertha Olsen, Rudolph Elie, Mary Murphy. Their subject was Books and Authors.

On the afternoon of Wednesday, the eleventh, at four o'clock in the High School hall, Mr. Henry Duncan, a native of Liberia, gave a lecture on his native country. The lecture was for the members of the Teachers' Club primarily, but the pupils were unofficially invited.

On Friday evening, the five hundred Girl Scouts who came to Arlington for their convention, held a meeting in the High School hall. On Saturday, luncheon was served to the visitors in the High School also.

JUNIOR HIGH CENTRE

Last Wednesday afternoon the annual Eighth Grade social was held in the assembly hall at 3.30, under the general direction of Miss Cunningham, 8th grade class adviser. Nearly every member of the class and many of the teachers attended. The program presented was as follows:—

Welcome, by president, Daniel Buckley; Ukelele selections, Henry Lackin; "The Truth About Jane," A comedy in one act. Cornelia, Lucille Bradbury; Isabel, Jacqueline Burr; Agnes, Marie Roberto; Jane, Helen Brown; Mrs. Wilming, Jessie McKenzie; Aunt Jane, Elsie Foss; Bridget, Margaret Shea. Selections by 8th grade boys' IIC orchestra—first trumpet, Harvey Newgent; second trumpet, Allen Nelson; violin, Joseph Shea; piano, Murray Purdy; flute, Johnston Fitzgerald; clarinet, Elmer Zeigler; drums, John Easton; ukelele, Henry Lackin. Games, refreshments.

Special recognition was given to the birthday anniversaries of Benjamin Franklin last Tuesday, and of Daniel Webster last Wednesday, by teachers and pupils of the social science classes.

The Centre Junior High quintet defeated Junior High School West, 15-13, at the Old Town Hall last Friday afternoon, before a very large and enthusiastic crowd. The game was very close as the score indicates. A superior brand of passwork spelled victory over a hard working West team, which scored heavily by means of long shots. Quinn, at centre for West, was responsible for most of his team's scoring, while team work and the fine shooting eye of Frank Gaddman counted heavily in Centre's favor. These two teams meet in a return game February 17.

JUNIOR HIGH WEST

On Monday of last week the boys played their first basketball game of the season with Junior High Centre. Junior High Centre won the game by a score of 15 to 13.

Desk inspections were held Thursday morning by the principal. The results for the different rooms will be published in Beacon Junior, our monthly paper.

Monday, the boys held a hockey practice at Hill's Pond, with Mr. O'Neill coaching.

We are sorry to report that John McLaughlin, member of the class of 1928, passed away on Friday morning. John died from the result of an operation performed for appendicitis. He was an active member of the Junior High School traffic squad, and also prominent player on the boys' basketball team. The esteem in which he was held in the hearts of his classmates was shown when the class officers, division officers, officers of his home room and several other students attended services, which were held for John in St. James' church at 9.00 o'clock last Monday morning.

OFFICERS OF WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS, NO. 43, INSTALLED

The newly elected officers of Corps 43, W. R. C., affiliated with Francis Gould Post, 36, G. A. R., were installed in G. A. R. Hall, on Thursday afternoon of last week, in the presence of a large number of members of sister organizations of this section of Greater Boston, with comrades of Post 36 as guests.

The installing officer was Mrs. Hattie Calahan, department councillor, who was ably assisted by Mrs. Fannie E. Wheeler, past department patriotic instructor and conductor. The officers inducted into office were: Mrs. Ida M. Bowman, president; Mrs. Josephine Williamson, senior vice-commander; Mrs. Blanche Lewis, junior vice-commander; Mrs. Margaret Uguhart, secretary; Mrs. Minnie S. Barry, treasurer; Miss Emily Saunders, chaplain; Mrs. Annie Collins, conductor; Mrs. Margaret Russell, guard; Mrs. Lila T. Russell, patriotic instructor; Mrs. Carolyn R. Morse, press correspondent; Mrs. Lennie Chapman, assistant conductor; Mrs. Gertrude Frazer, assistant guard; Mrs. Henrietta Peppard, Mrs. Elizabeth Bennett, Mrs. Mary S. Ray and Mrs. May Day, color bearers.

At the close of the exercises, brief speeches followed. The installing officer and her conductors paid a high tribute to the Corps, and the work they are doing and the manner in which it is being done. Each of these officers was presented with a beautiful souvenir of the occasion.

Past Commander, George H. Averill of Post 36, and Past Department Commander, Henry Clark, spoke for the G. A. R.

A bountiful supper closed the ceremonies, prepared by the ladies of the Corps, under the direction of an efficient committee, Mrs. Lilla Russell, chairman. There was no evening session.

ARLINGTON BOSTON COLLEGE CLUB DANCE IN TOWN HALL

A very pretty and well attended dancing party was held in Robbins Memorial Town Hall last Friday evening, under the auspices of the Arlington Boston College Club. The party was planned as a reunion of the undergraduates and the graduates. The committee in charge arranged a novel program for the evening, in connection with the dance, calculated to please those who did not care for dancing. The main feature number was a specialty number arranged for the seniors of B. C. John A. Sullivan, president of the club, was assisted by a very efficient committee, made up of John J. Dowd, chairman, Thomas F. Good, Jr., treasurer; Charles J. Bowser, secretary; Warren McQuirk, captain-elect of the football team at B. C.; Pascal Greco, Arthur Touhey, John J. Kelley and John F. Kiley.

The only decorations for the hall were the B. C. colors, a large B. C. flag being stretched across the rear of the stage.

WOMAN RECOVERS POCKETBOOK DROPPED ON THE STREET

Last Friday a woman informed Traffic Officer James R. Burns at his station, at Park and Mass. avenues, that she had dropped her pocketbook and she thought that a man (pointing him out to the officer) had picked it up. This was denied by the man when accused of the deed. He was taken to the police station, where he gave his name as Victor Carpovich of 1409 Rover street, Jamaica Plain, and he was booked as a suspicious character, but later he was charged with the theft of the pocketbook and money. Later the prisoner, with the officer, returned to the Heights and showed where the pocketbook could be found. The prisoner, according to the police, acknowledged that he took the money from the pocketbook and then threw the purse away. He was in District Court Saturday morning, when his case was continued for further investigation.

ARLINGTON LOCALS

Parlor caucuses have started which makes it evident that town politics are going to be lively.

The host of friends of Rodney T. Hardy have been missing him of late, because of illness, which has confined him to his home, 38 Gray street.

Mrs. Edward Battey, of Jackson Heights, Long Island, N. Y., has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eben F. Dewing, of 6 Woodland street.

A. R. Madden, Arlington, has been elected a member of the Cyrin board of the University of Vermont, as a result of the fall elections. Mr. Madden will serve in the capacity of assistant editor.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Crocco celebrated their 28th wedding anniversary at their home, 10 Grove street, when many friends were present. They were married Jan. 7, 1900, at 4 o'clock, in Italy.

The Misses Eugenia Humphrey and Virginia Baker entertained a group of their friends last Friday night at a small dance given at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred T. Baker, 17 Hopkins road.

Miss Dorothy Dwinel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Allen Dwinel, left on Monday to visit her aunt, Mrs. C. Gerry Wightman, and grandmother, Mrs. A. H. Dwinel, formerly of Arlington, but now of Philadelphia, Pa.

A shower was given to Miss Olimpia Manderino recently, when a group of friends and relatives attended. The orchestra provided by Miss T. Crocco, entertained the guests. Miss Yolanda and Theresa Crocco served the refreshments.

Members of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of Calvary Methodist church and their friends went into Boston Tuesday and had luncheon at the Homestead Rooms on Boylston street. Mrs. Wallace Howe arranged the party.

So much enthusiasm has been shown among the members of Arlington Council, Knights of Columbus over their meetings of late, that the officers have decided on a $25 attendance prize for next meeting Tuesday evening, Jan. 24, and in addition, they will have an excellent entertainment program to start the season off with.

Ordinarily a grass fire needs but brief mention, but when an alarm is rung in for one (which was the case Monday evening, from box 12) at this season of the year, it calls for a note of the same. A field at Margaret and Thorndike streets was on fire, which needed the services of the fire department. Soon after it was put out, snow began to fall, covering the ground. The first snow in weeks.

The large gasoline and automobile accessory station located at the corner of Mass. avenue and Clark street, Arlington, known as Buckley's Filling Station, John Buckley, owner, has been sold to Frederick and Anna Falkgren. This property consists of a brick office building, together with 10,000 square feet of land, the value of which is about $20,000. Henry W. Savage, Inc., were the brokers in the transaction.

As We See It

Isn't it about time that a numerous group of ministers, public speakers, magazine contributors and not a few editors of influential publications, quit captions criticism of the youth of today and devote some time at least in effort to correct a neglect of a plain patriotic duty on the part of so large a portion of the voting strength of the United States as to plainly threaten the perpetuity of this Republic?

This was the conclusion of one who made a careful study of the meeting in Arlington, last week, of nearly five hundred Girl Scouts of America, assembled in convention in Town Hall, coming from homes in a wide spread section of Greater Boston. The dresses they wore were shorter than fashion decreed in their grandmothers' time, there was a freedom of action those of the earlier date would have deemed improper, but at no gathering over which Julia Ward Howe or Susan B. Anthony presided in a long ago time, was the business conducted in a more efficient and satisfactory way than was true of these young folks, assuming full responsibility and requiring no coaching even in the most important business introduced and disposed of. Their grandmothers (great-grandmothers, perhaps) began the movement that resulted in woman's emancipation and enfranchisement; their mothers saw "victory" printed on the banner; they have come to the gateway of young womanhood in full enjoyment of the privilege secured. That these privileges have been abused by some to the extent of deserving public condemnation is true; but the percentage of these, measured by the total is insignificant, if deplorable. The outside world does not have a less opinion of the sterling worth of Arlington people as a whole, because from time to time it is discovered that a criminal has been found to have a home there. To our view there are few things more plain than that the youth of our land are today living on a higher moral plane and striving for even better things than was true of any generation that has preceded, for our perspective is not these Girl Scouts only, but includes the Boy Scouts and many, many other groups who have "Excelsior" for their motto.

No, we do not need to worry about the future of the youth of today; but any knowing the facts may well be concerned about the perpetuity of our institution when it is realized that a majority of the legal voters of the country are so indifferent to the true patriot's duty, that minorities and not majorities are represented in the action taken by legislative bodies of states and with Congress as well. For example, in the presidential election of 1924, less than 50 percent of the registered vote was cast in the Union as a whole; and this registered list contains only about eighty percent of those entitled to vote.

It was bad enough prior to the enactment of the Direct Primary act, but since that change in the nomination of candidates for office was made, the trend has been rapidly downward until there seems to be little idea of party loyalty among masses of voters and the candidate having a fat purse and willing to scatter its contents lavishly, feel pretty sure of capturing coveted honor whether deserving or not.

Ours is a republican form of government. The voters of a district choose one or more of their fellow citizens to represent them in the law making court. Shall we continue this down-drawing plan, or change it so that in the selection of candidates the man of brains and of real merit, though not well fixed financially, may have a chance to win.

No Change Needed

We are strongly in favor of retaining our present form of town government until it has shown marked signs of failing to function honestly and satisfactorily. No city charter ever issued contained more adequate provision for safeguarding the rights of citizens and efficient management of public concerns than does the act of the legislature authorizing Arlington's form of conducting public business. Of course there is the lack of pomp and ceremony that attends the inauguration of a Mayor, but such pomp and ceremony "butter no parsnips," and cost a lot of money.

Arlington is a big business corporation, receiving into its treasury annually some millions of dollars. This large sum is drawn on by the heads of the several departments entrusted with management of local affairs, to meet current expense of running the same. The chief concern of the average citizen is to see that their money is equitably divided; that it is economically distributed; that heads of departments shall be "faithful stewards." This duty devolves now on Town Meeting Members. We feel certain that the records of the past years since the Town Meeting Member plan was adopted, will show an upward trend in economy and efficiency in every department, and in so doing have moved the plan on which public affairs are now conducted is far better than the method it displaced; that to city government can make an equally satisfactory showing.

"Let well enough alone" is a good motto in this case, at least; and we trust Arlington voters will continue the present plan to the extent at least of giving it a fair trial (which only passing years can have) before even considering the desirability for a change.

In reading over the report of the Town officers in regard to the number of stores vacant along Mass. avenue, I do not think that forty-six vacancies out of six hundred and ninety-six places of business, is at all bad. The Selectmen say we have too many filling stations and now, it said, is that the policemen think we have too many stores. Will some one please tell us what they would like to see in the business zone?

OFFICER GEORGE HIGGINS
MAKES HEROIC RESCUE OF
TWO BOYS FROM DROWNING

If there is any doubt in the minds of our tax payers about the necessity of an officer on duty in Menotomy Rocks Park, or of the value of his services, it is too bad they could not have witnessed Officer George Higgins' heroic rescue of two boys from drowning in Hill's Pond on Tuesday afternoon of this week.

Between two and two-thirty, two boys, apparently from fifteen to seventeen years of age, appeared in the park, and with the water open in several places, proceeded to skate. They were out in the middle, at a point from twelve to fifteen feet deep, when one broke through the thin ice.

Officer Higgins, coming to his shanty from a point farther over in the park, where he had been sawing wood, noticed a boy lying flat on the ice. Sensing that he might be trying to reach another who had fallen in, the officer started to run. As he reached the edge of the pond he saw that his surmise was correct. Grabbing the rescue ladder he shot it across the ice. This was grasped by one boy, who climbed to safety and managed to catch his life preserver, which the officer next threw him. This the boy managed to fasten around his companion and they were both hauled ashore.

Neighbors seeing the rescue called the police, but it all happened so quickly that by the time the officers arrived both boys had fled in an auto, hatless and dripping wet, so it was not possible to learn their identity.

Of course, as time has been heard to remark, an officer in the park may not be necessary, and we grant that most any child, even a very young one, would have sufficient intelligence not to go on the pond when the open water was plainly visible in many places, still when a pair from fifteen to seventeen years old display no more judgment than the pair rescued, it would seem that we need the officer. In the opinion of many of those who saw this incident, which would probably have meant two deaths if it had not been for Officer Higgins, this efficient and hard-working man, turned on Tuesday afternoon alone, all that the town has paid him to do, which, after all, only means a few cents on each person's yearly tax, at which we shall vote for most heartily as long as Menotomy Rocks Park is a public place and people, especially those who wonder if we need it, patrolled, feel that their children have a right to use it.

A WITNESS.

HUMANIZED KNOWLEDGE
IS SUBJECT OF BOOK TALK

"Humanized Knowledge" was the subject of the book talk which Mrs. George B. C. Rugg gave in the Universalist parish house on Wednesday morning. Under this head she considered those books, so popular in the last two years, which outline a large subject in popular style.

This year there are fewer of these books. Three examples are "The Winged Horse" by Auslander and Hill; "The Story of Architecture in America," by Tallmadge, and "The Kingdom of Books," by W. G. Orcutt.

Mrs. Rugg next considered a group of books which give an idea of the social development of America. Among these is the series of histories classified together with the title "Little Histories of American Life." Another is, "Our Times," by Mark Sullivan. In this group she included four novels, which interpret our social development. They are, "Giants of the Earth," by Rolbak; "The Grandmother," Westcott; "A President is Born," Fannie Hurst, and "Splendor," Ben Ames Williams.

On the first of February Mrs. Rugg will give another talk at half past ten in the morning in the parish house, on "Biographies."

Deaths

JAMES R. TABER

James R. Taber, who passed away January 13th, at his home, 30 Lombard terrace, after a brief illness, was born in Vassalboro, Me., in 1839, and thus at the time of his death was in his eighty-ninth year. He came of Quaker ancestry and was educated at the Friends' School in Providence. He had lived in Boston and vicinity for fifteen years, six years in Arlington. Here his active figure was seen daily on our streets, and up to almost the day of his illness he took long walks, sometimes as far as to Belmont and back. He was of a cheerful, lively disposition, well-known to many for his friendly converse, and was a favorite with the children. During many years of his life Mr. Taber was very active in public affairs; postmaster for a period of twenty years; Town treasurer and Superintendent of Schools, and in 1882 was elected State Senator, serving for two terms. He was a Freemason, a Son of Temperance, and a steadfast adherent and advocate of the Temperance cause, and closely associated with General Neal Dow, Nelson Dingley, and other prominent reformers. He was a charter member of the local lodge of Odd Fellows, and its first Noble Grand.

In 1916 Mr. Taber wrote the "History of Unity," in which town he had resided for many years. The volume contains the interesting historical address which he delivered on July Fourth, 1904, at the celebration of the Centennial of the town.

Funeral services were held at the home, 30 Lombard terrace, on Sunday afternoon, and the body was taken to Maine on Monday. Here further obituary services were held, attended by the Masons and Odd Fellows and a large number of sympathizing friends. The floral tributes were very numerous and beautiful.

Mr. Taber is survived by his two daughters, Nellie M. and Vivian H. Taber, the latter a teacher of English in Arlington High school.

MR. AND MRS. FRANKLIN M. UPHAM DIE IN MEDFORD

Franklin M. Upham passed away January 18th, at his home, 10 Cotting street, Medford, after a few days' illness with pneumonia. On Tuesday of this week, his wife, Mary A. Lawrence, succumbed to an attack of grippe. The funeral of Mr. Upham was held Monday, January 16th. Services for Mrs. Upham were this (Friday) afternoon. The interment of both was in the family lot in Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Upham were members of two families that for years were prominent in Arlington. Mr. Upham was born in Chelmsford, Sept. 10, 1846, the son of Ezra A. and Elmira Morse Upham. Father and son established Upham's Market in Arlington, which later was owned by the late Everett Upham, now by Charles F. Marston. Mr. Upham went west after giving up the business here, later, on returning, he took up the retail business at North Market street, Boston, from which he retired in 1899. He then became associated with the John P. Squire Co., from which he retired from active business in 1910.

Fifty-four years ago Mr. Upham married Mary A. Lawrence, the daughter of the late Henry L. and Lucy M. Lawrence, of Arlington, the former of whom had large real estate holdings on Medford street, and was well known in the Boston Market district.

The children who survive the couple are Frank M. Upham, Jr., Miss Zula M. Upham, Mrs. Fred S. Wellington, all of West Medford; Mrs. Webster Tyler of Framingham, and Mrs. Josiah E. Snow of West Medford, also three grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

Mr. Upham leaves two sisters, Mrs. Jennie E. Wyman, and Mrs. Laura Bond, both of Arlington. Mrs. Upham is survived by two brothers—Henry D. Lawrence of Medford, and Dana L. Lawrence of Greenwich, and two sisters, Mrs. Walter P. Lane, of Canby, Oregon, and Mrs. Walter H. Gates of Pasadena, California.

MRS. CLARA DURGIN KIMBALL

After an exhausting illness that has extended over three months, Mrs. Clara J. Durgin Kimball, wife of the late Albert H. Kimball, passed away January 11th, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur P. Wyman, 128 Lake street. She will be mourned by many, for her's has been an active and useful life.

Clara Durgin was born June 6, 1858, in what was then West Cambridge (now Arlington) the daughter of James and Hannah Heald Durgin. The family has been long identified with the town. She attended Arlington schools and graduated from the Cotting Academy in July, 1878. The following September, the eleventh of the month, she became the wife of Albert H. Kimball, who passed away sixteen years ago. The ceremony was performed in Revere, Mass., in which town Mr. Kimball carried on a market garden and was prominent in town affairs. He also held several important positions in Revere's municipal department while a resident. After leaving Revere, the couple and family moved to Lexington, where they resided for a few years, but moved to Arlington thirty-four years ago.

Mrs. Kimball has long been identified with the First Universalist church. She has served as president of the Samaritan Society of the church, and has given earnest and efficient effort to all the activities connected with the denomination. She was a charter member of the Arlington Heights Sunshine Club, and has served as one of its presidents, and is also a past president of the State Sunshine Club. She was a member of the Arlington Woman's Club, the Women's Aid Association of Symmes Arlington Hospital, and a member of the Arlington Welfare Council.

The funeral was held Saturday, January 14th, at 2 P.M. from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wyman. The devotional services were conducted by Rev. R. R. Hadley, minister of the First Universalist church, assisted by Dr. George G. Huntley, State Supt. of the Universalist denomination. The flowers were in great profusion, and very beautiful, and the large attendance at the services bespoke the love and respect in which she was held. The interment was in the family lot in Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

The deceased is survived by three children, Marion R. Pierce, wife of the late Dr. Laurence L. Pierce; James D. Kimball, of Chicago, and Mrs. Wyman. Also a step-daughter, Mrs. Franklin L. (Lucretia) Smith, and eight grandchildren. One daughter, Gladys, passed away several years ago. There are besides two sisters, Mrs. H. B. Goodenough, of Brighton; Mrs. Samuel E. Kimball, of Arlington, and a brother, H. C. Durgin, of Melrose.

MRS. FLORA K. KELLEY

Mrs. Kelley had just returned from a reception tendered her son and his wife, when she was suddenly stricken and died within a short time. She was fifty-three years of age. Besides her husband, she is survived by two sons and two daughters. The funeral services were held Saturday morning in Our Lady of Mercy church in Belmont.

JAMES O'KEEFE

James O'Keefe, for over 30 years an employee of the Boston Elevated Railway Company, died suddenly at his home, 121 Newport street, last Friday. Mr. O'Keefe had reported for work as usual, but not feeling well, started for home to see his physician. He died soon after his arrival, of heart failure. Mr. O'Keefe was held in high esteem by his fellow employees, as was shown in the beautiful floral tributes and the delegation attending the funeral services. He was of fine presence and genial manner, with a kindly attitude toward all his associates, and was highly respected by his fellow employees.

The funeral took place on Monday morning with a solemn high mass of requiem in St. Agnes church. The celebrant being Rev. Forrest Donahue, with Rev. John Madden, deacon. Rev. Henry Bean, sub-deacon, and Rev. William Murphy, master of ceremonies. The music was by the choir of the church.

The committal service at the grave in St. Paul's Cemetery was read by Fr. Barrett.

The service was attended by a large delegation from the Carmen's Union, headed by Pres. Pierce F. Quinlan, Business Agent Thomas J. Reagan and Delegate John Sheehan, these men being honorary escort from the home to the church and thence to the cemetery.

The active bearers were Thomas Durnin, James Durnin, Jeremiah O'Keefe, Edward O'Keefe, Michael Harrington and Maurice O'Connor, nephews of Mr. O'Keefe.

TWO ARLINGTON RESIDENTS IN AUTO BUS ACCIDENT

Two Arlington residents were injured Sunday in an accident in Walpole, when a Boston and New York Gray Line bus was in collision with an automobile. The accident came close to being a very serious one, for the bus was forced off the road in the effort of the driver to avert the crash.

Mrs. Henry C. Dottling of 35 Chandler street, and Frank L. Colon of 10 Gould road, were the local victims. Both were taken to the Norwood Hospital.

Mrs. Dottling was on her way to New York to visit her husband, who is a photo-engraver there. She was treated for lacerations and abrasions and later was driven to her home in Arlington.

Mr. Colon was more seriously injured. He sustained a fractured shoulder. He had been spending the holidays with his sister, Mrs. Fred D. Ennis, of Gould road, with whom he resides, when in Arlington. Mr. Colon is a travelling salesman with the American Spectacle Co.

TWO LOCKE SCHOOL PUPILS ARE PAINFULLY INJURED

Helen Geddes, daughter of Charles Geddes, of 3 Harvard street, and Mary Fitzpatrick, daughter of James Fitzpatrick, of 8A Harvard street, were painfully injured last Thursday evening, just after the close of school. Both children are seven years old, and attend the Locke school. A firm at the Heights was giving calendars away. The children hearing of it, ran from school and across Mass. avenue at Park avenue, to obtain one. An automobile operated by Miss Anna C. Emerson of 2 Sherman street, Lexington, was proceeding up the avenue toward Lexington. It hit both children. Traffic Officer James R. Burns took the children to the Symmes Arlington Hospital. The Geddes girl was bruised and cut some, but no serious injury was found. The Fitzpatrick girl was more seriously injured, and her condition was serious for a few days, but her complete recovery is now looked for.

The High school basketball quintet met its first defeat of the season on Friday evening in Fall River. The boys made the trip by bus to the Fall River High School, where they played a hard and fast game, losing out 29 to 22. Joe Donahue piled up the score for Arlington in good shape, but fouls were called on him, and after four, he was taken out of the game. At the time Donahue was removed, Arlington was within three points of making the game a tie.

ARLINGTON H. S. GIRLS TAKE 2 OUT OF 3 FROM CAMBRIDGE

Three teams from the Girls Basketball team of the High school went to Cambridge Latin school in Cambridge, last Friday afternoon, where they opened their season. Miss Katherine McCarthy, coach of the Arlington girls, has some fine material, but how to pick the team is to try them out against equally good teams. Three Cambridge teams opposed the Arlington girls, and Arlington carried off two of the games. Arlington won in the senior and junior divisions, but lost the sophomore game. WITH OUR TRACK TEAM

Pheldon Phinney, a sophomore at High school, sprang a big surprise when he won the 45-yd. at the Northeastern University games last Saturday night, defeating many of the fastest runners around Boston. It was his first race, and his running was the talk of the meet.

Joe MacPhee, running from a low mark, landed third prize in the 1000-yds. at the same meet.

Clarence Alexander ran the 300-yd. dash, and looked like a sure winner until he fell rounding one of the sharp corners.

Coach Dr. McCarty predicts that Phinney will do big things for Arlington High in the future.

Arlington High will send a sophomore relay team to race Brookline High later in the month. Candidates for the team are practicing at the Somerville High track. Arlington High will be represented by a strong team. Phinney, Arthur Duffy, Jr., Vincent Powers, Chas. Greig and Francis O'Neill are showing very fast times.

Newton High freshman have invited Parmenter Junior High to hold a dual track meet at Newton in February.

Coach "Doc" McCarty will take his Jr. boys over to Newton and try out his coming high school runners.

Parmenter boys, showing much speed for youngsters, are Morton Willey, Geo. Alexie, William McCarty, Jr., Ed. Brainerd, Raymond Thomas, Wellington Paul, Humphrey Sullivan, Herbert Brooks, Dominic Prestijohn, Edward Hall and Keith Henwood.

Somerville Southern Junior High and Parmenter will hold an in-door track meet on Dilboy Field in February.

SPORT NOTES

HOCKEY BY JR. H. BOYS

Centre Junior High hockey team, which defeated Southern Junior High, 9-0, is after more victories. Coach "Doc" McCarty has his boys on the ice every day, and his charges are picking up the fine points very quickly.

John Lax, centre ice man, will be heard from when he goes to high school. Lester Barrett, Aker, Traynor, Calahan, Mitchel, Buckley, John Duffy and Clarke look like future prospects for A. H. S. Raymond Marsters is manager.

Parmenter Junior High will open its season next week. Parmenter has in Raymond Thomas, William McCarty, Joe McCullough, Fessenden Teele and Hebar Younken a very fast and aggressive forward line.

For defense, Morton Willey, Weston Ogilvie, Edmund Galluci, Robert Dearing, William Merrill and Harry Austin are showing up well. Ward Harris and Humphrey Sullivan look awfully good guarding the net.

The Junior High Hockey championship will be a battle between three real hockey teams.

The continuous warm weather has made out-door ice hockey out of the question. In consequence, the High school team has had a long spell of idleness. The rink in the rear of the high school is ready to receive the water, and when the weather is sufficiently cold, the rink will be flooded. It may be necessary to make some arrangement for the games in the Arena, so that the Mystic Valley series can be played off. Arlington is at the top of the league as a result of its win over Melrose in the opening game of the series.

MR. AND MRS. G. D. FEAGAN GREETED BY TEACHERS AND OFFICERS

erly grasped by all. Music of the evening consisted of singing by the group, and two selections by an instrumental quartet, consisting of Donald and Willard Wallace, and Stanley and Charles Miller, with Miss M. Holman at the piano.

A short business meeting was held, presided over by the superintendent, Mr. W. P. Wass, who introduced Rev. Mr. Feagan, who gave an especially inspiring and instructive talk on "Some Aspects of Leadership." Mrs. Feagan was called on for a few remarks. Dr. L. A. Barnes, who has served the church in the capacity of a pastor during the past winter, also added a pleasing note to the evening, as did Mrs. Barnes, by brief remarks, in which they voiced their appreciation for the hearty cooperation in the work, stressing their heartfelt thanks that the church was to be so favored with the acceptance of Rev. Mr. Feagan as regular pastor. He will take up his duties at the church the first Sunday in February.

considered as important for the principal to supervise this work as to attend to routine matters. Now the realization is coming that the important work is being done in the class room and an effort is being made to give the principal time to keep in touch with that work.

The third point was a notice of the work that is being done by the committee of the National Educational Association, which is studying the secondary school curriculum. The department of superintendents of this organization has twelve committees at work on this. Their report will be given at the next meeting, which will be held in Boston, when it is expected that they will have many interesting changes in the curriculum to recommend.

The fourth innovation is the use of student hand books, of manuals for teachers and of manuals for parents, by principals as aids in school administration. The Boston High School of Commerce, one of the few schools to use the manual for parent, has found it very helpful in making the parent understand what the school is trying to do. The handbook for students performs a like service for them as well as familiarizing them with school routine, while the handbook for teachers saves the repetition involved in getting out frequent bulletins.

So useful do these handbooks seem to Mr. Gammons, that he is going to work immediately on one for the students and also, in cooperation with the teachers, on one for the parents. Later he plans to issue a teachers' manual.

Mr. Gammons feels also that more of his time should be given to supervision, concerning which many helpful suggestions were given to the meeting by Professor Davis of Boston University. On this problem all of the principals feel that they must work as it is vital to the progress of their pupils.

A particularly interesting address on "The Touchstone of Success," was given by Rev. John Nicol Mark, pastor of the First Parish church.

POLICE HUNTING FOR SUNDAY BURGLARS

Arlington police are hunting for the burglar or burglars, who broke into two homes here on Sunday. The first break was reported from the home of Alden B. Richardson, of 85 Jason street, and the second from that of Mrs. Lizzie N. Carr at 56 Gray street. In each case a window on the front piazza was forced and jewelry was taken from both houses. This similarity makes it appear that the breaks were made by the same person. No one was at home in either house, so the robberies were not discovered until some time after they were committed.

In making a tour of vacant houses in that section, Sergeant E. C. Jacobs and Patrolman John Roche discovered that the house of the late Harriet S. Gage at 41 Jason street, had been entered and ransacked. A check-up will be necessary before it can be ascertained whether anything was taken.

ROTARY CLUB MEMBERS ENTERTAIN THE LADIES

Burns, he discussed four characteristics of his work. The religious phase was best illustrated, he said, by the "Copter's Saturday Night," in which the poet had celebrated the intelligence and piety of his father. His humor he characterized as rich and broad, fanciful, satirical, sometimes even brutal, but never failing in its appeal. This trait he illustrated by quoting epitaphs and epigrams, many of which had been scrawled on window panes. Burns' feeling against militarism, he said, was strong, and was expressed in some of his poems and in one of his letters, which said, "There is misery and ruin to thousands in the blast that announces war." His fourth characteristic is his internationalism—his world consciousness. That Burns would be advocating a League of Nations or some other kind of world alliance if he were alive today, Mr. Mark felt sure. He wrote the world's anthem, the song that is sung by men of all nationalities in all parts of the world—"Auld Lang Syne."

And, appropriately, the meeting closed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

PROPRIETOR ROBBED OF TWO DIAMOND RINGS

It cost the manager of Faddy's Shoe store at 456 Mass. ave., two diamond rings, valued at $110 and $100 respectively, on Saturday when he allowed two women to go to the cellar of his store. It was some time after the women left that the manager found that his clothing, hanging in the cellar, had been gone through and the rings taken.

MEMBERS OF MENOTOMY ROYAL ARCH CHAPTER TO APPEAR IN MINSTRELS

Members of Menotomy Royal Arch Chapter, augmented by Omar Grotto Band of forty musicians, make their bow in Robbins Memorial Town Hall on Friday and Saturday, January 27 and 28, in a 1928 model minstrel entertainment, under the direction of George W. C. Lox, producer of numerous P. E. Hasty Pudding and Tech Shows in recent years. With Alice G. Devine, a specialty dancer, the circle and opening hilarity, "The Magic Charm," will enlist a company of 125 persons.

Many old favorites are numbered among the ensemble, notably William C. Drouet, interlocutor and one of the principals in the sketch, and these end men and soloists, Larry Wescott, Jack Kerrigan, Paul R. Bennett, Warren Lindberg, Clarence Conroy, Charlie Burnham, Roy Richardson and Walter Sorenson. Many of these performers are in "The Magic Charm," which includes Charles Farrell and Edwin Hoeg.

Elmer B. Tapley is chairman of the general committee in charge of the show, assisted by Albin Cameron and Clarence Conroy. Mr. Cameron is chairman of the sub-committee on advertising, which includes Charles E. Hadley, High Priest of the Chapter; Norman R. Willard, Wilder Hodgkins, Fred S. Douglas and Mr. Tapley. Mr. Douglas is handling the distribution of tickets. Leslie E. A. Smith is chief usher.

MRS. WEBSTER TELLS GUTS ABOUT HER WESTERN TRIP

The Women's Missionary Guild of the Park Avenue Congregational church, held one of the most interesting meetings of the season last Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. McAlley, the president, presided, with Mrs. Frank Biggs, the secretary, giving a report of the last meeting. There were various reports read, and a wonderful program planned by Miss Irwin.

Mrs. George Webster gave a glowing account of her recent western trip. Her keen sense of humor added not a little to a most interesting and fascinating story, with maps and many photographs that made every one anxious to see the wonder of the West. Miss Laura Brown gave two selections, her voice being in perfect tone. She responded to an encore, giving a song requested. There were about sixty ladies present. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Lyon, spoke of the new plans to add to the church building, that have met with much favor.

Tea and cakes were served by Mrs. Cathcart, assisted by Mrs. Grace Miss Barbara Cathcart and Mrs. Marion Webster. There will be a church supper soon, with an old-fashioned play.

IDA F. BUTLER LODGE INSTALLS NEW CHAPLAIN

Mrs. Winnie Finley was installed as chaplain at the regular meeting of Ida F. Butler Lodge of Rebekahs, which was held Monday evening, in G. A. R. Hall. The ceremony was performed by the Deputy, Mrs. Merithew, of Lyndale Lodge, Canton, assisted by her husband, Mrs. Williams. Mrs. Finley succeeded Miss Erma Peck, who resigned.

Following the business meeting there was a social hour, during which games were played and refreshments served.

PRESENT GIFTS TO RETHINK OFFICERS

Mrs. Ralph Kinney, the retiring president, and Mrs. J. R. Bentley, the retiring treasurer, were presented gifts by the nominating committee of the Ladies' Aid Society of Calvary Methodist church, at the meeting, which was held last week Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Kinney's gift was a Martha Washington sewing cabinet and Mrs. Bentley's, a silk pillow.

The new president, Mrs. John Hyslop, and the vice-president, Mrs. H. E. Gamster, were unable to attend the meeting because of illness. The officers installed were: Mrs. Carl S. Nelson, general secretary; Mrs. Anne Wallace, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Frank Drew, recording secretary, and Mrs. E. C. Hathaway, treasurer.

DR. CLARK SPEAKS ON THE QUESTION OF EVOLUTION

A meeting of the Searchlight Club was held at the home of Mrs. Arthur A. Lawson, Thursday afternoon, Jan. 12th. The speaker of the afternoon was Dr. Hubert Clark, curator of the zoological section of the Peabody Museum, Harvard University, whose subject was, "Should we believe in Evolution?"

His talk was most scholarly as well as being simple, clear and convincing. First, comparing the attitude toward the theory of evolution in the past and in the present, he brought out the unanswerable fact that its truth is so widely recognized that there is absolutely no discussion of it in the scientific magazines of today. He spoke briefly of the life and work of Darwin, and also of the important discoveries and studies of Alfred Wallace in the British East Indies.

In tracing the history of the progress of the Darwinian theory in this country, he noted the opposition toward it shown by Agassiz and the approval of the botanist, Gray.

A most interesting question period followed. All present were charmed by the speaker's scientific knowledge, his clear presentation and his reverent attitude toward those deeper things of life, consciousness and soul.

MR. HAROLD R. HALFYARD COMES TO CALVARY CHURCH

Calvary Methodist Church, feeling keenly the need for increased efficiency in its young people's work, has employed a part-time Young People's Worker, to assist in this important part of its activities. Mr. Harold R. Halfyard, a senior in Boston University School of Religious Education, and well qualified for the task, will fill this position. He will have charge of the recreational life of the various young people's organizations, superintend the work of the Junior Epworth League, and teach "The Cavaliers," a young men's class in the Church School. Mr. Halfyard began his work last Sunday, and was very cordially received by those with whom he will carry on his new work.

HOLD ROLL CALL SUPPER AT CALVARY M. E. CHURCH

Over two hundred sat down to the excellent turkey banquet which was served last Friday evening, in the vestry of Calvary Methodist church. Mr. Walter Carle, who was chairman of the supper committee, was assisted by the women of the church and the young ladies served. Then the men helped to serve and let the ladies sit down. The occasion was the annual roll call supper.

Rev. Charles Allen, the pastor, acted as toastmaster, and called the roll, which showed that no member of the church had died during the past year. At Mr. Allen's request, the charter members of the church, of whom fourteen were present, rose as did also the official board, which was well represented.

The speaker of the evening was Rev. Garfield Morkan of Lynn, the first pastor of the church. Mr. Morkan was especially glad to come back and to see his old friends. Indeed, many came especially to see him so that the meeting was a sort of "Old Home" night.

Mr. Carl Nelson was the soloist, with Miss Ann Graham accompanying him. Mr. Albert Morris led the community singing.

BOSTON MARKET GARDENERS TO CELEBRATE

The Boston Market Gardeners Association will observe the fortieth anniversary of their organization by having a banquet at the Statler Hotel on the evening of January 23.

The custom of inviting representatives from the commission firms of the Boston Market district will be continued this year as previously. Roscoe W. Thatcher, President of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, will be the guest of honor.

SAMARITAN MEMBERS HEAR ORIGINAL CONSTITUTION

Members of the Samaritan society of the Universalist church were both interested and amused at their annual meeting, which was held in the parish house Monday afternoon, by the reading by Miss Evelyn Locke of the preamble and the constitution, written when the society was formed in 1842—one year after the organization of the church.

The preamble read: "We, the females of the First Universalist Congregation in W. Cambridge, in endeavoring to promote the interest of our cause, both publicly and privately, have resolved to form ourselves into an association to be known as the West Cambridge Universalist Female Samaritan Society; believing as we do, that frequent meetings of the same will not only be productive of much good in other respects, but that they will form a convenient medium through which the members may become acquainted, strengthen the union and draw closer the bond of union wherever we are bound."

Mrs. Edwards, matron at Locust's Theatre, described the improvement in the manners of the children at Saturday matinees since the matrons have been in attendance. Members of the Samaritan Society will act as matrons during May.

The nominating committee asked for an extension of time before bringing in the names of the vice-

MAYOR CHILDS SPEAKS ON GOOD CITIZENSHIP

Mayor Childs of Newton was the speaker at the special meeting which was held Sunday evening in Calvary Methodist church, under the auspices of the "300" Club. His topic was "Good Citizenship." He told his audience that in order to be good citizens they must vote at town as well as at national elections, and they must begin to vote as soon as they become of age. Another necessary quality of good citizenship was the care of young people. The good citizen will see that they are all taken care of. Nor must the good citizen forget his church. He must boost his church to the limit, must always be there and always ready to help.

The Powder House Male quartet furnished the music.

Weddings

KELLEY—HOLMES

A home wedding took place last Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, which was characterized by dignity and of unusual beauty, at the bride's home, 77 Oakland avenue, Arlington Heights, when Miss Alice Holmes and Mr. Elliot Greenlaw Kelley, of Danvers, Connecticut, were united in marriage.

A unique double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. G. Lyon, D. D., pastor of the Park Avenue Congregational church, Arlington Heights. And the couple pledged their faith each to the other, and kneeling, took the solemn vows beneath a large and beautiful arch of potted palms enclosed by handsome tapestries on the walls. Mr. Gilbert J. Weale acted as master of ceremonies, and his wife, Mrs. Gilbert J. Weale, played the wedding march.

Preceding the march, while a prelude was being played, the lights were turned out in the room, and rows of candles were lighted on both sides of the arch, and Mrs. Edith C. Holmes, mother of the bride, entered with Dr. Lyon, taking a chair in the rear of the arch and the minister the other. As the contracting parties approached the arch, Mrs. Holmes stood at right side, and the minister took his position for the ceremony.

The maid of honor was Miss Virginia C. Holmes, sister of the bride, and wore a beautiful American beauty taffeta gown and carried a large bouquet of variegated sweet peas, a gold wreath in her hair and gold hose.

The best man was Mr. John H. Wachter of New York, a classmate of the bridegroom. The bride was charmingly gowned in white taffeta, with a crown of orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and white sweet peas.

Miss Alice Holmes is a well known violinist and radio artist. She is the granddaughter of Mr. Joseph C. Holmes, treasurer of the Boston Five Cent Savings Bank.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of the relatives and a large number of invited friends, at the close of which, an informal reception was held and light refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelley left later in the evening, taking a trip to Greenfield, Mass., where they will spend their honeymoon and plan to enter into the winter sports there. They will make their home in University road, Brookline.

Orthodox Congregational Church Holds Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Orthodox Congregational church was held Friday evening, January 13th, in the church vestry. The formal meeting, with election of officers followed a caterer's dinner, served in the main vestry, which was satisfactory in every way.

After a social half hour, the meeting was called by the moderator, Mr. Henry O. Kidder, who has acted in that capacity for a number of years. The clerk, Albert W. Wunderly, presented reports, followed by the report of the treasurer, Norman C. Jenkinson.

The annual letter from the pastor contained much for encouragement in the coming year, in that it showed that more people had united with the church in the year just closed, than any previous year. The total number was 43 by confession of faith and by letter. The pastor has made 587 parish calls during the year.

The reports that followed were from Albert Hilliard, chairman of the financial committee; Mr. Frank H. Walker, music committee; Mrs. Stanley E. Cook, missionary committee; Mr. Robin Adair, superintendent of Sunday school; Mr. Eben F. Dewing, chairman of Religious Education committee; Mr. Solon M. Bartlett, hospitality; Mrs. Marion Henderson, Bradshaw Missionary Association; Mrs. Edward A. Lincoln, Friendly Folk; Men of the Church, Mr. Eben F. Dewing.

Mr. G. Arthur Swan, as chairman of the nominating committee, presented a list of officers to be voted upon at this time, and which were elected. They are as follows:—

Deacons for three years, Charles T. Staniels and Ernest A. Snow; Deacons for 2 years, Mrs. Bernard G. Teel and Mrs. Wilson D. Clark, Jr.; Clerk, Albert W. Wunderly; Treasurer, E. G. Cobb; Assistant Treasurer, Mrs. F. W. Wunderlich; Collector, Stanley E. Cook; Auditor, Eben F. Dewing; Moderator, Henry A. Kidder; Superintendent of Sunday

MENOTOMY CHAPTER HEARS ADDRESS ON CITIZENSHIP

Mrs. Stephen P. Hurd, State Vice-Regent, Speaker at Regular Meeting

The regular meeting of Menotomy Chapter, D. A. R., was held on the afternoon of Jan. 13. Besides the usual business, there was mention of a bridge to be given Jan. 20, in the Universalist Parish House, to raise money for patriotic work.

The speaker was Mrs. Stephen P. Hurd, State Vice-Regent, whose subject was "Citizenship." She besought her hearers to use all their influence to preserve the fundamentals of our U. S. government, and to protect it from the assaults of its enemies. She asserted that some of the keenest minds of the present day are aiding the cause of Communism, and are trying to spread that doctrine in our country, working especially through schools and industrial plants. They are endeavoring to overthrow our family life and social order, do away with property rights, and abolish religion. Mrs. Hurd dwelt with much feeling upon the importance of home training and religious education for our young people, emphasizing the thought that "the world is what it is because somebody taught a child."

She said that the D. A. R. is accused of being militaristic, but that the opposite is true, for we hope, pray, and long for the time when all nations shall do away with armaments, and we support every agency which shall contribute to permanent peace.

The Chapter Regent, Miss Caroline Higgins, made the application of the speaker's address in these words from the pen of Ella Wheeler Wilcox:

He who sees
The mighty vehicle of State
Hauled thru the mire to an ignominious fate.
And makes not such bold protest as he can.
Is no American.

The musical part of the program was given by Mrs. Chester A. Moody, soprano soloist, who sang three songs in her usual pleasing manner. They were: "Orpheus with His Lute," by Sullivan; "Summer Sunshine," by Spross, and "God Save America," by Mrs. Edwin Allen and Mrs. Eugene Vinal were the accompanists.

Following the program, the hospitality committee, Mrs. Newell Hawes, chairman, served refreshments in the dining room.

Lewis Browne Finds Good In Teachings Of All Prophets

Lewis Browne, authority on comparative religions, speaking at the Arlington Forum in Robbins Memorial Town Hall last Sunday afternoon, gave a survey of the outstanding religions of the world that was both valuable and interesting, while even more interesting were his digressions.

In opening his talk on "This Believing World," Mr. Browne urged his hearers to forget their old prejudices and regard religion from a broader point of view. Religions, he said, were seldom compared but often contrasted that each of us may prove our own best. The Jew has written books to prove his religion the true one; the Mohammedan to prove his, while the Methodists in a volume called "Doomed Religion," proved that the only true religion was the Protestant Methodist Episcopal.

There was reason, he said, though it implied a narrowness of vision, for considering Palestine as the country, Jerusalem the city and the Bible, the book of religion, for in Palestine had been produced the prophetic type.

Civilization and Rain
 Then he told of the religion of Persia, digressing to prove that a bucketful of rain would make civilization. Because with soil made fertile by rain, man could settle down, raise grain, with his surplus engage in commerce and as a result build cities, develop the arts, and, in short, become civilized. It is impossible, he insisted, for a man continually moving around, with no settled spot in which to stay, to be civilized. In the sixth century B. C., the Persians were a nomadic race, a race with many gods to whom they prayed constantly for rain. Then came Zoroaster, their prophet. He taught that the world was torn between good and evil, and man must choose which he would serve. For centuries they had prayed for rain and never gotten it. Now, they should go into the forests, dig ditches and bring in rain. When they did wrong they should do penance by digging more ditches.

When the people asked for one law by which to live, he told them. That which is hateful unto thee thou shalt do not to another—the Golden Rule of Zoroaster, given six hundred years before Christ.

A Place in the World
 In the same century in India a prince—Gautama—left his palace and went out into the world to discover what life was all about. This, according to Mr. Browne, is what we all want—to find our place in the scheme of things. It is because Aimee Semple Macpherson is able to make her followers feel that they are important, that they count in the scheme of existence, that she is so effective. Mr. Browne described a man and a woman whom he had seen at one of the Temple Angelus meetings—the man evidently a ditch digger and the woman a laundress. They, with all the others, felt that they were the saved ones, that they were important. Even though they came in the things we have made them, they walked out straight and happier than was the Prince Gautama.

Gautama discovered that the learned ones talked a lot but said little, for by learning you can classify knowledge but you cannot tell why things are. Finally, he had a revelation and he preached a new religion—Buddhism—with an eight-fold path for right living. And when his followers asked for one path, he told them "Thou shalt do nothing to thy neighbor that thou would not have him do to you."

The Rule of Gold
 In the same century the Chinese philosopher, Lao Tse, wrote among

SACHEM COUNCIL ELECT OFFICERS AND AWARD EAGLE SCOUT BADGES

While the conference of the Metropolitan Division, Massachusetts Girl Scouts, were holding guest night in Robbins Memorial Town hall on last Saturday evening, Sachem Council, Boy Scouts, were assembled in the vestry of the First Universalist church for its annual meeting.

Since the Sachem Council was organized by Arlington, there have been added to it, troops from Lexington and Belmont. Now the troops of Bedford are to be identified with Sachem Council, which will make one of the strongest and most efficient bodies of Boy Scouts in this section, that in the years to come should react for the good of each of the towns above named.

Joseph P. McCann, chairman, served a supper to members of the council. During the serving of this typewritten reports from the various departments were distributed among the members of the council, which made it possible to dispense with the usual reading of the same.

The meeting was called to order by President Harold L. Frost of Arlington, who went over the budget of business to come before the meeting. Scout Executive Richard E. Mellen's report was most gratifying to the council. Many recommendations for the coming year were given by the executive, who in several matters expressed himself emphatically regarding them. He felt there were great possibilities for Sachem Council in the year that is before it.

At this time the event looked forward to by every Boy Scout who has accomplished the coveted prize, was the awarding of the highest badge, that of Eagle Scout. Chairman of the Court of Honor, Franklin P. Hawkes, had the duty of presenting these badges to the winners, which was done in a ritual exercise, arranged by Mr. Hawkes, assisted by other Eagle Scouts, who welcomed the new Eagle Scouts into their group.

These new Eagle Scouts are—Paul Hawkes of Troop 5, the first of this troop to attain the honor, which he made in two years and three months; Edward Brainard of Troop his other doctrines, "If a man love thee, love him in return; if a man hate thee, love him nevertheless"—the doctrine of non-resistance. While Confucius wrote, "First learn what to do for men, then you will learn what to do for God," and his "Rule of Gold"—"That which is hateful to thee, that do to no other."

So, long before Christ, the great men of these different countries preached high and ethical doctrines. The moral, said Mr. Browne, is that this is a believing world, where all over the same high beliefs are taught and the same low things done, for all the great peoples went far below their great prophets.

How, he asked, can Christians try to teach Chinese, when they don't live up to their own doctrine. The Chinese were civilized long before Christians. Why, they had umbrellas when Christians didn't even know enough to go in out of the rain. It would be logical first, for Christians to save themselves. The walls between people of different religions stand high and cause rancor, bitterness and a sense of difference.

People, he went on, had always taken the teachings of the prophets and suited them to themselves, just as the negroes always pictured the Holy Family with black skins—they cannot visualize the Saviour as white like the men who are their enemies. In the same way the Christian thinks of Jesus as a Nordic.

Two thousand years ago the Jews were sick of fighting. Jesus, voicing their feelings, preached a doctrine of peace. But the Nordics were a young people, they were not ready for peace so they made Christ into a God of war and in the bloody crusades they made his religion a cause of war. At last, slowly, they are stumbling back to his original doctrine.

The Blessed Days
 There is only one thing for man to do and that is to be true to themselves—Christians try to be Christians. Let the Jews be Jews. Let us all try to live up to the doctrines of our prophets. If we do this we will have lifted ourselves so high that the walls will be below us and there will come to all men in this believing world the blessed days whereof the old prophet dreamed for, he concluded, "have we not all one father? Hath not one God created us all?"

In answer to the questions, many of which were asked, Mr. Browne confessed that while he did not look for the coming of an individual Messiah as did the Jews in the past, he still dreams of the Messianic age when life will be pleasant, happy and beautiful for all, but, he added, he expected all people to do it, not one man. He expressed approval of the work done by the medical and educational missionaries but cited instances of harm done by religious missionaries.

Mr. Franklin P. Hawkes, principal of Junior High West, acted as chairman, introducing the speaker in a brief speech and at the end of the meeting thanking the audience for their intelligent cooperation. The half hour of music which preceded the Forum was in charge of Miss Grace Gordon Pierce. Miss Pierce conducted the singing by the High School girls' Glee club of a group of songs, all of which were very pleasing, and finely sung, especially the Lullaby.

The ushers, members of the Arlington Men's Club, were Mr. W. S. Cannell, Mr. Frank H. Walker, Mr. Charles M. Sawyer, Mr. W. S. Car-gill, Mr. F. N. Lacey, Mr. Mortimer H. Wells, Mr. Hiram W. Colton and Mr. George M. Hounds.

8. Arlington, who attained the honor in three years, and Benjamin Scherschewsky, of Troop 3, Belmont, in two years and three months. Warren A. Blaisdale of Belmont assisted in the presentation of the badges.

During speeches that followed the presentation of badges, Rev. R. R. Hadley, minister of the First Universalist church, brought a pleasant word to the boys as to benefits derived in the study of nature through visits to the woods, and of the pleasure he enjoyed when a boy in roaming through the woods. Regional Executive Harold Converse spoke, touching especially on the splendid work done by the Boy Scouts through the flood area during the recent floods.

The election of officers resulted in the unanimous choice of Mr. Harold L. Frost to serve for another year as president of the council. His work has not only been effective, but greatly appreciated by his associates in office, who expressed themselves as having enjoyed working with him. The other officers elected were:—Sydney R. Wrightington of Lexington, C. E. Lawrence of Belmont, Charles M. Evans of Arlington Heights and Nathan H. Daniels of Bedford, vice-presidents; A. Allen Kimball, treasurer, and Willard A. Wallace, scout executives.

To carry on the work during the coming year, the sum of $9,500 must be raised for the local Council. Of this amount, Arlington will be asked to give $5,000, Belmont, $3,000; Lexington, $1,250, and Bedford, $500.

A summer camp for the local troops came up for discussion. Mr. Converse stated that one was available if sufficient money is raised in the coming Boy Scout drive.
